

What Would I Be, if I Could Be Anything?

I'd like to be a cockroach so I could squeeze into tight places
I'd adore being a house so I can be very durable and never be lonely
I'd appreciate being a hawk so I can be able to hunt small creatures
I'd desire being a virus so I can migrate easily, multiply quickly, and not be seen with the eye itself
I'd enjoy being a folder so I can hold many papers and move from place to place
I'd love to be a tree to be extremely big and soak in water and other nutrients with my roots
I'd prefer being water so I can soak into the dirt
I'd select being a pencil so I can leave a visible trail on paper and erase mistakes
I'd want to be an airplane so I can be fast
I'd relish being a star so I can last a long time and be powerful
I'd crave being a clock so I'll always know the time and show others what time it is I'd yearn to be a safe so I can keep stuff secure
I'd delight being a book so I can hold information and look stylish
I'd fancy being a black hole so I can eat everything in my way and be nearly invincible
I'd wish to be a bed so I can stay warm
