

Celina

February 27, 2017

Objects I Dream to Be

I'd like to be a cat so I can sleep, dream, and meander all night and day
I'd love to be a kite so I can feel the warm summer breeze when I sway in the wind
I'd adore being a dolphin so I could swim swiftly through the cool ocean waves
I'd appreciate being a puppy because I would have cozy and lovable cuddles everyday
I'd desire being a lovely flower so I can dance in the wind all afternoon
I'd wish to be fireworks so I could wow the audience with my dazzling colors when I explode
I'd prefer to be a bumblebee so I can fill my face with sweet, golden honey
I'd care to be a butterfly so I can flutter my wings in the bright blue sky
I'd cherish being a necklace so my beautiful gems can glitter in the afternoon sunlight
I'd reckon being an ocean so I can collect sparkling shells from the shore
I'd consider being a hat so I would be able to feel the warm sunlight against me
I'd enjoy being a cloud so I could float gracefully
I'd be delighted to be a stuffed toy so I could sleep on the soft, fluffy bed with my caregiver
I'd value being a bird so I can tweet beautiful, sweet tunes as long as I want
I'd treasure being a seagull so I can snatch appetizing sandwiches from people for myself