

Oh, Imagination, Imagination

I'd like to be a lobster so I could swim as long as I want without needing air
I'd want to be a tree so I could look down at lakes and up at mountains
I'd consider being a Golden Eagle so I can fly all over the world
I'd desire to be a penguin so I can slide on ice without a sled
I'd enjoy being a sign so I could tell people what to do without speaking
I'd love to be a raindrop so I can travel using cloud service
I'd revel being a snow crystal so I can twirl and flutter through the air
I'd covet being a drawing so I can use anything drawn on paper
I'd wish to be duct tape so I can fix anything
I'd yearn to be a cat so I can fit through any hole
I'd appreciate being a deep-sea creature so I can explore the depths of the sea
I'd care to be a Woody Jeep so I can drive anywhere
I'd relish being a saxophone so I can play any jazz music
I'd desire to be a megaphone so everyone can hear me
I'd select to be an element of the periodic table so I can make up anything
